Over the past three decades, the Rolling Stones have released a bunch of live albums; in fact, there's been one documenting every tour they've done since 1981's Tattoo You tour.

But in more recent years, they've thrilled fans by dipping into the vaults for releases such as Some Girls: Live in Texas '78 and Muddy Waters & The Rolling Stones Live At The Checkerboard Lounge, Chicago 1981.

Now, the band is putting out more concert recordings from their archives, with the debut of a new series, From The Vault. The releases will contain the concert on both video and audio, with the first two Vault albums being Hampton Coliseum: Live in 1981 and L.A. Forum: Live in 1975.

Hampton Coliseum is a two-and-a-half-hour concert from the 1981 tour for Tattoo You, and was recorded on Keith Richards' 38th birthday. The setlist featured "Under My Thumb," "Let's Spend The Night Together," "Shattered," "Beast Of Burden," "Tumbling Dice," "Miss You," "Brown Sugar," "Jumping Jack Flash," "(I Can't Get No) Satisfaction," among other classics and will be released on Nov. 4.

L.A. Forum also clocks in at the same length and was recording during the band's 1975 tour; their first with guitarist Ron Wood. The setlist includes "Honky Tonk Women," "Gimme Shelter," "You Can't Always Get What You Want," "Tumbling Dice," "Brown Sugar," "Star Star," "Midnight Rambler," "Jumpin' Jack Flash," and "Sympathy For The Devil” and will be out on Nov. 18. “Star Star,” which may be NSFW for some, is below.

Both concerts will be available in multiple formats: Blu-ray, DVD/2CD, DVD/3LP, DVD, and Digital Formats.

Rolling Stones diehards — or subscribers to Google Play — may recognize both of these as releases that had previously been available in the U.S. only to Google Play subscribers. There’s no word as to whether other concerts that have been released to Google Play — including a 2005 club show in Toronto and a 1973 concert in Brussels — will follow, or if the band is also mining their vaults for more live show that haven’t been released in any form.

In other Stones news, they have a string of dates in Australia and New Zealand next month. They have yet to announce any more North American concerts.
