ROLLING STONES RELEASING LIVE SETS

The Rolling Stones have been performing live for over five decades so there are lots of archived recordings from their shows and now, some of them will be coming out thanks to a new series called From the Vaults. First up are two restored and newly mixed gigs which will be available in various formats in November. On November 4th, get Hampton Coliseum – Live in 1981, a two-and-a-half hour concert featuring 27 songs, and on November 18th, pick up L-A Forum – Live in 1975, which boasts 25 tracks. Check out clips from each set at the Rolling Stones' YouTube page.

- RELATED AUDIO: Singer Mick Jagger told us about being born with the desire to perform (See Related Cut #4).
- TIDBIT: The 1981 gig happened on Keith's birthday, December 18th, in Hampton, Virginia, and was the first ever music concert to be broadcast on TV as a pay-per-view event.
- TIDBIT: The 1975 show took place during the band's Tour of the Americas, their first trek with guitarist Ronnie Wood.

TALKING POINT: What was your first Stones show?
