

ULTIMATE CLASSIC ROCK

March 23, 2017

Rolling Stones' 'Ole Ole Ole! A Trip Across Latin America' Coming to Home Video

Eagle Rock Entertainment

The Rolling Stones' recent concert movie Olé Olé Olé! A Trip Across Latin America is coming to home video.

The film, which played theaters for one night only back in December will be released on DVD and Blu-ray on May 26. Seven bonus tracks, totaling about 50 minutes, will be added to the movie for this release.

You can see the list of bonus performances below.

Olé Olé Olé! A Trip Across Latin America documents the Rolling Stones' 2016 tour of 10 Latin America cities. Along the way, they played their first show ever in Havana, a free concert that made history last March.

The original press release for the movie stated that it “combines electrifying live performances from across the tour and from their historic tour finale as the first-ever rock band to perform to an audience of 1.2 million in Havana, with an intimate insight into the world of the Rolling Stones.”

The Stones played their usual hits throughout the tour, and the movie showcases many of them in full. It also includes interviews with the tour's promoter, production manager and band members.

Olé Olé Olé! A Trip Across Latin America originally screened in more than 300 theaters on Dec. 12.

The Rolling Stones, 'Olé Olé Olé! A Trip Across Latin America'

Bonus Performances

“Out of Control” (Buenos Aires, Argentina)

“Paint It Black” (Buenos Aires, Argentina)

“Honky Tonk Women” (Sao Paulo, Brazil)

“Sympathy for the Devil” (Sao Paulo, Brazil)

“You Got the Silver” (Lima, Peru)

“Midnight Rambler” (Lima, Peru) “Miss You” (Lima, Peru)